JORNALER@ aims to actively engage workers in wage theft prevention by simplifying the job of record keeping.

Information is a powerful tool in the fight against wage theft. Sometimes, simply keeping a record of facts about job location and wages can mean the difference between getting paid and not. But when you are working on a different site, for a different employer almost every week, keeping even basic data can be a time-consuming task. JORNALER@ app solves this problem as an easy to use data collection and organizing tool.
